PARK HOUSE,

The Daily News.

NEWPORT.

BY CRANSTON & NEIBURG
144 TRAMPS STREET.

THURSDAY MORNING, NOV. 22, 1855

A NARROW ESCAPE.—On Tuesday morning, a young man at Wakefield, New Hampshire, apparently died of malignant fever, and the occupants of the house were very anxious to have the body interred the same day, for fear of contagion.—They applied accordingly, to the incumbent of a church in the suburbs, but he declined, considering the proceedings too hasty. During the night the seeming corpse gave signs of life, and at the hour appointed for his burial, the young man, was in the enjoyment of a cup of coffee which he asked for, and is said to be in a fair way of recovery.

ALTERED BANK BILLS.—Once on the Dover Bank, N. H., altered to tens, are in circulation at Worcester. They are skillfully executed, and very difficult of detection except to a practised eye. This alteration is a new one.

Two American sailors, named Wm. Winn and Mark Chancery, after an imprisonment in Havana exceeding twelve months, have been convicted in that city of being connected with the landing of certain negroes, and have been sentenced to three years each in the chain gang.

A model advertisement for Horseflesh we copy from the New Bedford Standard of the 15th that:

A BLOOD MARE FOR SALE.—No to be sold Saturday, Nov. 17th, at public auction, by George & Bourne, the thoroughbred Mare "LINDA LINCOLN."

Property of the late General Lincoln, Jr. She was by "Andrew Jackson," out of "Wm. Knobell's" mare, sister of the renowned "Stamps Jackson," said to be sold for his fault, but for the fact that her mistress has not whereabouts to feed and shelter the noble creature, that has so faithfully served her former master and herself. Give her up to the mercy of the auctioneer's hammer, with this warranty—that whoever buys her secures a noble animal, without fault or blemish.

JANE P. LINCOLN.

THE ENGLISH WAR PARADE STOCKS.—The Washington Star of Saturday contains the following paragraph: We hear that some $85,000 of the United States Government stocks came over from England in the last steamer for redemption, under the advertisements of the Secretary of the Treasury, offering to pay gold for them. May it not be possible that the flurry made by the English Government and the Times over the nominal imminent probability of the war with us, is designed not only to distract the attention of English capitalists to send money over here for investment, on account of the existing disturbed state of English financial affairs, but also to frighten them as far as possible into increasing the stock of bullion in England, by realizing at once, through the sale of such American securities as they now hold? Stranger things have happened.

CHRISTIAN UNITY.—A neat and tasteful church, erected by Christians of various sects, has just been dedicated in South Carver, Mass. An unusual interest attracted great numbers of people, owing to the curious fact that five different conflicting denominations were represented by the clergymen conducting the exercises, viz., Baptist, Congregationalist, Universalist, Unitarian, Methodist.

THE INFIDEL'S GIFT TO HIS SON.—An infidel physician, as his son was about leaving him for college, procured for him a pocket Bible; frankly stating to a friend, that he knew of nothing so likely to preserve him from the seductive influence of vicious associates.

A HENRY WARD BEECHER.—This clergyman recently preached a sermon against old school Calvinism, in which he said he wished it fully understood by his people, that he served them not as the minister of a sect, but of the truth. "I am not," he declared, "a Calvinist, an Armenian, a Universalist, a Unitarian, a Pelagian, nor a Swedenborgian, but I am simply Henry Ward Beecher, a preacher of the Gospel, a believer in the Lord Jesus Christ, and trying to make other people believe in him—that is all!"

Three vessels with about 9,000 bushels of Nova Scotia potatoes arrived at Boston on Monday.

SINGULAR.—At Medina, N. Y., a young man, 22 years of age, who had been deaf and dumb since his ninth year, was taken with violent spasm of the chest about a week ago, and after throwing up a small quantity of blood, found that his hearing and power of speech were entirely restored.

PREPARED FOR THANKSGIVING.—A gentleman in Worcester has won one hundred and seventy-two wagers, each a fat turkey, on issues connected with the recent election. His stakes of course, were on the American side of the question.

An Alderman of London requested an audience of the speaker for a speech to be made at a meeting of the Society for the Relief of Poor Workmen, who are to be sent to America to attend the meetings of the Anti-Slavery Society. "I must first close with you," was the reply, "to somehow you open your mouth, that I may know what words will fill it."

THE ROCK OF LIBERTY,

A song for the rock, the stern old rock; That beateth the waves and the billow's shock; It was here with Time up a barren shore, And longed with scars at the breaker's roar; Two hands that first the Pilgrim hand Came weakly up to the sounding strand; And the tree they reared in those days gone by— It lives, it lives—and ne'er shall die!

Then cometh old rock, in the ages past Thy brow was blanched by the warring blast; But thy winter tool with the wave is o'er, And the billow beat thy base no more! Yet countless are thy stumps, old rock; Are the hardy sons of the Pilgrim stock; And the tree they reared in those days gone by— It lives, it lives—and ne'er shall die!

COAL.—It is not more than twenty-five years since Pennsylvania coal began to be a recognized article of production and commerce. This year the product of our anthracite mines alone will amount to not less than six millions of tons. This, as delivered at the mines, is worth at least twelve million of dollars, so that this great sum may be regarded as the amount of solid wealth dug annually, at the present time, from the bowels of the State. We do not here undertake to show the additional advantages it gives, in the encouragement of industry and the employment of hundreds of thousands of persons in manufactures and commerce. We only wish to impress upon the minds of our readers, that twelve millions a year is a low estimate of the sum now paid to Pennsylvania for the coal dug from below her soil. Ten years hence, when railroads, canals, mining, manufactures and population shall have vastly multiplied, our annual produce of anthracite coal will probably reach eighteen million of dollars.

In comparison with the coal crop of Pennsylvania, all other crops of every other State sink into insignificance. There is a greater value of cotton produced at the South; but it is at a great risk, with much labor, and it depends for its value solely on the foreign demand.

But the coal is part of the very soil on Pennsylvania; no frosts, floods or draught imperil its quantity or impair its quality. It is subject to no influences from abroad and to no tricks of the commercial world. Its market is at home and the domain, we may be sure, will always equal the supply, however great the supply may be. Wheat may be ruined by flies and vermin, corn may perish from drought, and potatoes from the rot, but the coal of Pennsylvania can suffer no destruction of damage. It rests safe and sound in the recesses where Providence has placed it, and asks nothing of human industry except that it be taken out.

It is a crop ever ripe and ready to be gathered, in quality unimpeachable and qualitatively inexhaustible. No competition from other States can injure it, for there has been no diminution of its rate of advance in supply and value, no matter what rivalries have been undertaken. The country is vast enough to consume all that can be produced, and manufactures and population increase at a greater ratio than can be expected of the production. At home, here, where coal has become a common-place thing, we are not properly sensible of the magnitude of the wealth it affords us, and are not disposed to award it the dignity it deserves.—Phil. Bulletin.

Choose that course of life which is most excellent, and custom will make it most delightful.

If you want your neighbors to "know who you are," give a party and don't invite the folk's who "live next door."

FASHIONS FOR THE SEASON.—A New York paper, speaking of the report on gentlemen's fashions, says: "There is not much change in gentlemen's pantaloons this month."

The best idea of weight was giving by an Indian who, when asked how much he weighed, replied, "As I am I weigh one hundred and fifty pounds, but when I am mad I weigh a ton."

Work every hour, paid or unpaid; see only that thou work, and thou canst not escape thy reward. Whether thy work be fine or coarse, planting corn, or writing epic, or only be honest work, done to thy own approbation, it shall earn a reward to the seme, as well as to the thought.

No matter how often defeated, you are born to victory. The reward of a thing well done is to have done it.—Emerson

BY TELEGRAPH.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Nov. 19.

At nine o'clock last evening, as the clerk of the Psycho Bank was going into the bank for the night, he was seized by two men, who had been waiting for him in the dark passage. They demanded of him where the Cashier lived, which he refused to tell, when one of them plunged a knife at his breast, which penetrated his coat but struck a thick wallet with coin in it, which saved a wound. The clerk then shouted murder, and the robbers fled. No clue to the would be robbers has yet been obtained.

New York, Nov. 19.

We have dates from Buenos Ayres by the Margaret Eliza, to Sept. 16. The British Fleet of the 8th announced the imminence of a civil war in Montevideo. On the 28th of the previous month President Flores was driven from his post, and immediately hoisted the banner of legal presidency in the suburbs of Montevideo. He had a force variously estimated at from 500 to 2000 men under his command. Some of the departments had declared for Flores, and others, it is said for Orbe.—The Brazilians in the meantime are shut up in their barracks in Montevideo. The latest news was that Flores threatened the city, while vigorous measures were being taken for its defense.

A WORD TO YOUNG MEN.—"Go it while you're young, for when you get old you can't. Exactly—go it—but not after pleasure; go it—but not after wine; go it, but not after dissipation, folly and vice, for when you get old you can't; and sure if you do you won't, for you will never be old! But go it, go it after your business; go it after virtue; go it after that pretty girl whom you want to marry; go it, after all these for when you get old you can't and there will be no use either of your going there, for you will have health wealth, honor, a good woman and children to bless you, and you can take your ease! But until you get old go it after these good things, and don't stop going it."

TRIAL OF POSTMASTER KENDALL, OF NEW ORLEANS.—Ex-Postmaster Kendall, of New Orleans, has just been tried there for embezzlement. The jury failed to agree; there were eleven for acquittal. His council requested an immediate second trial, but the prosecuting attorney had it postponed to the April term of the court.

ROBERT HALL, the world-renowned preacher, was a self trained wit. When he was in the United Kingdom, he was asked by a stranger—"What brought here, Mr. Hall?" He put his finger to his forehead, and instantly replied—"What will never bring you air—too much brain."—A preacher, after having finished a sermon, wished to know his opinion about it. Hall remained silent for some time, not wishing to mortify the inquirer's feelings in the presence of other ministers; but as the vain man repeated the request with great earnestness, he said—"There was one very fine passage in it, sir—the passage from the pulpit to the vestry."

To horse owners, stable keepers and others—Flyers' Healing Emulsion has proved to be one of the best remedies for lameness, caused by strains, bruises, sprains or other accidental cause as well as for wounds, galls or other injuries that are frequently occurring to horses and other animals. It is also the cheapest preparation that can be used. A stable keeper in Providence says,—

"I have frequently used it with the most decided marked results upon my horses. I use it in all cases of cuts, wounds and bruises, and in internal pains and distress, and it never fails to give immediate relief, or to effect a cure."

It will heal wounds, cuts or sores, upon man or animals, sooner than any other preparation I have ever used.

"A thing of beauty
Is a joy forever."

So sang the gifted poet Keats. What can be more beautiful than a fine head of hair, that nobles of nature's adornments. Who that is young, bat values the luxuriant locks of youth, and would preserve them; and who that is old but would commend Lyon's Katharine universally acknowledged to be the most valuable and the most delightfully perfumed toilet article ever prepared. Beauties and beauties, Ruth and Ruth, to guard against the vanity of the world, and to assist in the promotion of the best interests of the human race.
